Paris, June 13, N.S. The following Extract of the Advices received by the Court relating to the Plague, has been communicated to the foreign Miniſters.

M. de Bernage in his Letter of the 29th of May writes, that all Languedoc continues in a good State of Health, there remained but two ſick at Alais, who had lain a long Time but were in a way of Recovery. Intermitting Fevers had for ſome Days been pretty rife in that City, which in the Opinion of Phyſicians denotes the contagious Diſtemper to be ceaſing. M. de Rothe in his of the 29th of May relates, that for ſeveral Days none had died or fallen ſick of the Contagion in all the infected Parts of the Country; there were only ſeveral common Diſtempers. However, the Precautions were continued for preventing the Accidents which might happen by the Heats. He had raiſed the Blockade of Salindres, where all the Quarantains and the Diſinfection had been finiſhed two Months before. Cornillon was likewiſe free from all Suſpicion of the Plague. A young Woman who had been ill at Colias was cured, having had only an ordinary Tumour. The Duke de Roquelaure in his of the 29th of May, ſends the ſame Accounts of the good State of Health in Languedoc.

Provence. The Marqueſs de Brancas writes the 27th of May, that on the 25th of May three Perſons died in the Hoſpital at Marſeilles and ſeven fell ſick, of whom one belonged to the City, three to its Territory, and three were of the Number of thoſe under Quarantain. The 26th ſix died in the Hoſpital and four fell ſick. He was well ſatisfied with the Rules obſerved to prevent as much as poſſible the ſpreading of the Diſtemper there. M. le Bret in his of the 27th of May gives the ſame Account of Marſeilles; he was inclined to think it might not be the Plague becauſe it made ſo little Progreſs, however all Vigilance and due Precautions were continued.

The Comtat. Commiſſary Ruet writes the 29th of May, that the 21ſt there was but one taken ſick at Orange, and none the 22d and 23d. At Avignon ten died and 13 fell ſick on the 23d, and three fell ſick the 24th.

This is to ſignify that all that has been deſired in a Letter dated the 8th Inſtant, and ſigned N. Y. and directed to Duke's-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, ſhall be granted.
